

Atlas of TRANSVAGINAL ENDOSCOPY

Edited by Stephan Gordts
and
Rudi Campo
Hugo Verhoeven
Ivo Brosens

Transvaginal endoscopy is a new surgical technique with considerable clinical potential worldwide, offering a minimally invasive method for the exploration and, where possible and when indicated, the surgical treatment of the uterus and the tubo-ovarian structures. Highly illustrated in colour and completely up-to-date with its information, this Atlas of Transvaginal Endoscopy is a practical, visual resource with a useful 'how to' approach that enables surgeons to learn and perfect an important new technique.

Key messages of the atlas include:

- the patient and the treatment outcome benefit from early intervention
- transvaginal endoscopy can be performed in a minimally invasive way
- transvaginal endoscopy results in accurate diagnosis
- transvaginal endoscopy minimizes the risks for patients
- transvaginal endoscopy is safe and complications are simple to manage.

CONTENTS

Rationale of transvaginal laparoscopy in infertility • Diagnostic hysteroscopy • Transvaginal endoscopy: instrumentation and technique • Normal tubo-ovarian events at transvaginal laparoscopy • Risks and complications of transvaginal access to the peritoneal cavity • Fertility-enhancing hysteroscopic surgery • Bipolar resectoscope: the future perspective of hysteroscopic surgery • Endometriosis: features at transvaginal laparoscopy • Role of transvaginal salpingoscopy • Operative transvaginal laparoscopy • Cost-effectiveness of office transvaginal laparoscopy

With illustrations provided by Patrick Puttemans MD Leuven Institute for Fertility and Embryology, Leuven, Belgium

STEPHAN GORDTS MD

Leuven Institute for Fertility and Embryology, Leuven, Belgium

and

RUDI CAMPO MD

Leuven Institute for Fertility and Embryology, Leuven, Belgium

HUGO CHRISTIAN VERHOEVEN MD

Center for Reproductive Medicine and Endocrinology, Düsseldorf, Germany

IVO BROSENS MD PHD

Leuven Institute for Fertility and Embryology, Leuven, Belgium

informa
healthcare
www.informahealthcare.com

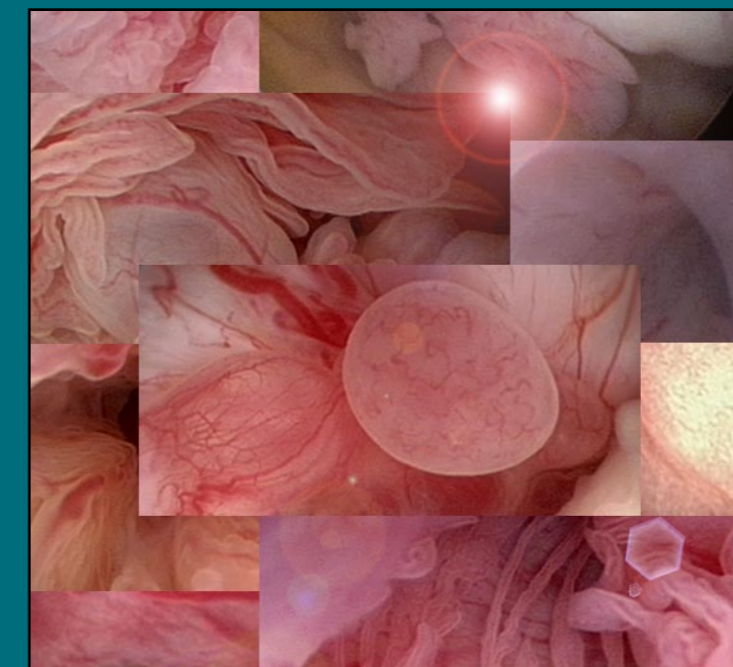

Gordts • Campo • Verhoeven • Brosens

Atlas of TRANSVAGINAL ENDOSCOPY

informa
healthcare

Atlas of
TRANSVAGINAL ENDOSCOPY

Edited by Stephan Gordts
and Rudi Campo
Hugo Verhoeven
Ivo Brosens

informa
healthcare